BEACON

Suffolk University

Boston, Massachusetts

Throughout the years at Suffolk University each graduating senior has determined for himself what Suffolk has been for him. Each has seen changes not only within the University but also within themselves. The staff of the Beacon would like to congratulate those seniors, and hope that this book will be a reflection of their senior year which they can look back on with happiness.

"Time it was, and what a time it was, it was . . .
a time of confidences. Long ago . . . it must be . . .
I have a photograph. Preserve your memories;
they're all that's left you."

Scattered Pictures – of the smiles
we left behind,

smiles we gave to one another – of the way we were.

For every season,
there is a reason,
and a time for every purpose under heaven.

Our schools, if they do their work,
strengthen our deliberate and deliberative selves.
Between the impression and the conviction,
between the impulse and the action,
we learn to pause and consider.

— Joseph Tussman

Administration

Four years ago, I entered Suffolk University as President, along with the members of this year's graduating class. I am sure that we suffered with some mutuality the disquiet of the day and apprehension for the future.

Four academic years have now passed. The problems have not disappeared, nor have all our fears been allayed. We have both matured in our ability to appraise what is important and what is not important, to decide who are the true prophets and who are the false prophets. We have not learned everything, but one concept has developed in our time – the concept of lifetime learning. Education is no longer confined to four years, or five years, but is a lifetime endeavor and pursuit, which will expand the one faculty which we all possess, which is incapable of over-expansion – our ability to learn.

With this knowledge, we go on our way, commencing not finishing, to a fulfillment which we hope will be satisfying, rewarding, and beneficial to each other.

TO THE CLASS OF 1974:

In keeping with your Yearbook theme "The Way We Were", I remember the way you were when you entered Suffolk University as freshmen in 1970 and as transfers during the following years. You were filled with friendliness, not hostility, you were filled with confidence, not unsureness and you were filled with eagerness not dullness or boredom. As the years have gone by, these qualities of the Class of 1974 have strengthened and have developed into a solid determination to enter and confront a world society perplexed by a multitude of problems, hazards and puzzles.

The Class of 1974 has the courage, the vitality, the sense of reality and the wisdom to overcome these obstacles and to venture forth with confidence and success.

PROFESSORS NORMAN B. FLOYD AND CHARLES H. FARLEY LEAVE SUFFOLK

Yearbooks tend primarily to serve students as reminders of the hopefully happy moments they experienced with others as they moved on their way to graduation. For that, yearbooks are primarily about students and not teachers. It would be particularly difficult, however, not to mention some few words about professors of history, Norman B. Floyd and Charles H. Farley, both leaving Suffolk University May, 1974 after many years of distinguished service. Professor Floyd leaves Suffolk after twenty-seven years of service, many of those years as History Department Chairman, while Professor Farley leaves after seventeen years service.

Suffolk University will be much the poorer with the loss of these two fine gentlemen. Both were dedicated to the pursuit of excellence in education and helped to spur on their students to notable achievements. Suffolk will miss Professors Floyd and Farley not only because they are men of ability and cared for their students, but also because they are men of integrity and character. It can only be hoped that their successors will be worthy of the respect that both these men commanded from students and colleagues alike.

The obligation of any yearbook is to recapture moments and events during our senior year so that we might have a pictorial reminder in the future years. We have tried to weave into the book the theme that we had chosen-"The Way We Were." In the 1974 Beacon are not only pictures taken from all the events but a flavor of the times in which we went to school in. Through much effort and co-operation came the 1974 Beacon. We would like to thank some very special people who made it all possible. Tom Boyle, Mark Foster, Fred Chase and Joan Tamagini helped out in the photography aspect. Pam Strassen gave us help in the fine art of typing. Jim Petersen, Dean Sullivan and Lou Connelly opened up their files for us and contributed their time as well. Lastly, we would like to thank Joe Donovan of Kelleher Publishing and Purdy's Studios. We sincerely hope that you enjoy this yearbook.

The Honorable Judge John Fenton

Outstanding Administrator Award

Judge Fenton was the recipient of the Outstanding Administrator Award presented by the Senior Class. Outstanding does not do justice to the type of devotion that Judge Fenton had for this University. He served in many capacities within the University. He was President of the University and twice the Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Much of his energies were directed to the enlargement of the student population as well as the facilities itself. Because of his stature among the leading law makers and politicians around the country, we were fortunate in having many of them speak at Suffolk. The Suffolk community will greatly miss the passing of the Judge.
